Dean's Spring 2009 Welcome

Hello and Happy New Year! I'd like to take this opportunity to welcome our new nontraditional students to Rutgers and to welcome back our continuing students.

UCC is aware that adults and nontraditional students must meet various responsibilities at home and at work while making extra efforts to reach their academic goals. We also know the value of successfully completing a college degree, not just in financial terms, but also in terms of personal development and social change.

Our ongoing goal is to reach adults and nontraditional students because we know that you face significant non-academic responsibilities that make your college years very different from the traditional college experience. Our first task is to reach you to make sure that you're informed of important developments, events, resources, services, dates, majors and minors programs that are available to students during the evening, weekends and online. UCC will also help to guide you to vital web information to enhance your experience at Rutgers University in a more effective and efficient manner. In addition, we advocate for you inside the larger Rutgers University community by recommending policies and programs to meet your specific needs.

This past Fall, we held a Dean's Forum to hear adults and nontraditional students voice their concerns. We participated in adult recruitment, orientations, transition programs, Veteran outreach initiatives and administered the Saturday Math Tutorials, to name a few. Through our continued research, collaborations, and focus groups, we remain committed to developing programs to attract a growing number of nontraditional students to Rutgers. In fact through our enhanced outreach via alerts on myRutgers and direct mail, we are confident that we will identify more nontraditional students. You can help us. If you know someone who should qualify to obtain nontraditional student status, please ask him or her to contact us at <http://ucc.rutgers.edu/affiliate#ucc>

This semester we at UCC are finalizing plans to host a website designed especially for our students so that they can work in a Virtual Learning Community, a place to communicate with others who share concerns, the same academic and career interests, as well as provide support to fellow classmates on how to navigate through the Rutgers' systems. We have also started a volunteer mentoring program so that Rutgers faculty and staff who are veterans can act as resources for an anticipated influx of returning veterans in the years to come. These are just a few of our many accomplishments and actions.

Our goal is to create a sense of community for those students who do not live on campus and whose lives are also dedicated to responsibilities outside of academia.

Sincerely,

Susan J. Schurman, PhD

UCC Volunteer Veteran Mentoring Program

Rutgers, New Brunswick, University College Community, in conjunction with the Camden and Newark campuses, is implementing a tri-campus Volunteer Veteran-Mentoring program. Rutgers offers our students a wealth of resources on each campus and we would like to further extend a sense of community by offering Veterans a mentor.

We are recruiting Rutgers faculty, staff, alumni and friends who are veterans or military family members as volunteers in order to share, encourage, and provide support to Rutgers Veteran and dependents of Veteran students.

The primary purpose of the program is to provide these students with much needed support, advice and guidance by a mentor in order to help our Veteran students successfully meet their academic goals; improve their interpersonal relationships on campus; increase their retention; and provide access to student-service support.

Spread the word!

RU An Employed Student?

The economic situation in the U.S. is impacting the unemployment rate by the thousands, and some Americans don't expect to be recalled to work anytime soon. Rutgers' Student Employment Office in New Brunswick, under the umbrella of the Financial Aid Office, is ensuring that they continue to administer employment programs during these trying times by collaborating with UCC and other departments to convey the numerous opportunities available to adult and nontraditional students while they attend college.

Employment programs that serve our students are the Job Location and Development Program (JLDP) which consists of unskilled to technical, non-work study jobs offered on a part-time and seasonal basis for all university students and employers, and the Federal Work-Study Program (FWSP), which is funded by the federal government and the university offered to students who are eligible financial aid recipients. Employment exists in various departments and labs within the University and local non-profit agencies. Either opportunity can help you to create contacts to shape your future careers. Both programs offer flexible, part-time employment opportunities on and off campus.

In an effort to increase the JLD database, we ask you to refer your current employer to contact the JLDP Employment Counselor at 848-932-2648.

myRutgers Portal

myRutgers is your personal information portal at Rutgers. You can customize your site using any of your favorite web-based links. The program works beyond the typical bookmarking of most visited sites by allowing you to login one time using your netid and password for multiple authentication programs.

The program is available to all Rutgers students, faculty and staff. We highly recommend that you make use of this portal and check your account on a consistent basis.

Beginning January 2009, the UCC newsletters will be listed on the myRutgers alert portal in an effort to keep adults and nontraditional students up-to-date on important information for academic success, and to enhance our recruitment of nontraditional students to affiliate with UCC.

The alert system on myRutgers allows users to receive notifications for events and important information, announcements, class cancellations, etc., from various campus-wide departments.

Douglass Bunting Women at Rutgers

The Mary I. Bunting Program was established in 1958 by Mary I. Bunting, the Dean of Douglass College at that time. This program, which is now a part of Douglass Residential College, provides individualized advising and support services for mature women students. Women enrolled full-time or part-time in any of the undergraduate schools at Rutgers-New Brunswick are eligible to join Douglass Residential College; these schools include the School of Arts and Sciences, the School of Environmental and Biological Sciences, the School of Engineering, Mason Gross School of the Arts, the School of Pharmacy, and the College of Nursing. Any woman who has been out of high school for five years or more automatically becomes a Bunting student when she joins Douglass Residential College. For more information, contact Dr. Katherine Birckmayer at kbirck@echo.rutgers.edu.

UCC STUDENT HIGHLIGHT

Jose A. Ramirez, 25, was born in Secaucus, New Jersey. His father was from Cuba and his mother from Puerto Rico. Both parents arrived in the United States in the summer of 1981 to start a family and pursue a life of opportunity. Jose attended Camden County Technical High School in Pennsauken, NJ and decided to join the U.S. Marine Corps upon graduation in 2001. Nearing the end of his enlistment he decided it was time for the next step, and that was to go to college. Jose traveled throughout Asia and Australia. While stationed at Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii, he could have easily applied to schools in Hawaii, but he wanted to attend Rutgers University in New Jersey. He admits that submitting all required documents for the application was stressful because of the distance, but after attending Rutgers University for a few years, he said, "I knew I made the right choice."

Sgt. Jose A. Ramirez

Jose's transition from Marine to student was not an easy one. He recounted, "I had no prior knowledge of the ways a college operated. Did not know which classes to register for or how to develop a class schedule let alone get to resources I needed." He explained that hitting the books again, after being away from school for a few years, was a huge challenge. The military lifestyle was structured with early morning physical activities and duties throughout the day. Jose described that life as a student includes staying up late studying for exams, writing papers and sitting in classrooms where most students are younger and have not shared his experiences. In the beginning at Rutgers he reached out to his family, especially his father, Jose Sr., when having difficulties grasping the poetry of Edgar Allen Poe or needed prodding when things seemed impossible. Jose admitted that early on he was doing poorly in academics, but sticking to his motto, "adapt and overcome" along with searching for fellow Veteran students helped him through the various student life experiences. Currently Jose attends Rutgers full-time and works part-time as a community service officer for the Division of Administration and Public Safety. He maintains a solid B average and plans to graduate in May 2010 as a communications major. "My goal is to help adults and Veteran students by continuing to campaign for diverse transition programs that help students adjust."

Today, as the Secretary of the University College Council, his advocacy for returning Veterans to Rutgers continues to be supported by members of the UC Council and UC Community. "I am very proud to have served my country, and now I am determined to serve those who are serving me, the future student Veterans of Rutgers University."
