Dean's Spring 2011 Welcome

Hello and Happy New Year! My name is Susan J. Schurman. I am the Dean of the University College Community and a professor in the School of Management and Labor Relations. I also chair the Veteran Advisory Committee for the New Brunswick Campus. I'd like to take this opportunity to offer a heartfelt Rutgers welcome to our new adult and nontraditional students and welcome back our continuing on-campus and off-campus students.

Susan J. Schurman, PhD

UCC is aware that adult and nontraditional students must meet various responsibilities at home and at work while making extra efforts to reach their academic goals. We also know the value of successfully completing a college degree, not just in financial terms, but also in terms of personal development and social change.

Our ongoing goal is to reach adult and nontraditional students because we know that they face significant non-academic responsibilities that make your college years very different from the traditional college experience. Our first task is to reach you to make sure that you are informed of important developments, events, resources, services, dates, and major and minor programs that are available to students during the evening, weekends, and online. UCC will also help guide you to vital web information to enhance your experience at Rutgers University in a more effective and efficient manner. In addition, we advocate for you inside the larger Rutgers University community by recommending policies and programs to meet your specific needs.

This past Fall, we participated in adult recruitment, orientations, transition programs, and Veteran outreach initiatives, to name a few. We are especially proud of our contribution to the formation of two new degree-completion programs designed specifically for adult non-traditional students: the School of Management and Labor Relations has launched a Bachelor of Science \(BS\) degree in Labor & Employment Relations, and the Edward J. Bloustein School of Planning and Public Policy will begin accepting students in the Fall 2011 term for a BS degree in Public Health. Through our continued research, collaborations, and focus groups, we remain committed to developing programs to attract a growing number of nontraditional students to Rutgers. In fact, through our enhanced outreach via our Virtual Learning Community on sakai, myRutgers, UCC list serves, and direct mail, we are confident that we will identify more nontraditional students. We have also initiated a volunteer mentoring program so that Rutgers faculty and staff who are veterans can act as resources for an anticipated influx of returning veterans in the years to come.

Our goal is to create a sense of community for those students who do not live on campus and whose lives are also dedicated to responsibilities outside of academia.

Sincerely,

UCC Adult and Nontraditional Student Orientation

Rutgers Volunteer Veteran Mentoring Program

Rutgers Veteran Mentoring Program ensures that veteran students receive additional support, advice, and guidance to reach their academic goals. Our mentors, veterans and military family members are eager to welcome veterans to Rutgers this spring.

Please visit our New Brunswick Campus veterans site to complete a preliminary questionnaire to enable us to match you with a suitable mentor.

Encourage prospective veteran students to go to our main University site for admission information: <http://veterans.rutgers.edu/>

RU An Employed Student?

The economic situation in the U.S. is negatively impacting the unemployment rate by the thousands, and people who are unemployed don't expect to be recalled to work anytime soon. Rutgers Student Employment Office in New Brunswick, under the umbrella of the Financial Aid Office, continues to administer employment programs during these times of economic stress by collaborating with UCC and other departments to convey the numerous opportunities available to adult and nontraditional students while they attend college.

The following employment programs serve our students: the Job Location and Development Program (JLDP), which consists of unskilled to technical, work study jobs offered on a part-time and seasonal basis for all university students, and the Federal Work-Study Program (FWSP), which is funded by the federal government and the university for students eligible for financial aid. These programs can provide contacts that will help shape your future career goals. Both programs offer flexible, part-time employment opportunities on and off campus. Employment also exists in various departments and labs within the University and local non-profit agencies.

In an effort to increase the JLD database, please refer any interested employers to Joyce Madee at the Student Employment Office, 620 George Street, New Brunswick, NJ 08901, 732-932-8817 ext. 652.

Douglass Bunting Women at Rutgers

The Mary I. Bunting Program was established in 1958 by Mary I. Bunting, the Dean of Douglass College at that time. This program, which is now a part of Douglass Residential College, provides individualized advising and support services for mature women students. Women enrolled full-time or part-time in any of the undergraduate schools at Rutgers-New Brunswick are eligible to affiliate with UCC and the Douglass Residential College Bunting Program; these schools include the School of Arts and Sciences, School of Environmental and Biological Sciences, School of Management and Labor Relations, School of Engineering, Mason Gross School of the Arts, School of Pharmacy, and the College of Nursing. Any woman who has been out of high school for five years or more automatically becomes a Bunting student when she joins Douglass Residential College. For more information, contact Dr. Katherine Birckmayer at birck@echo.rutgers.edu.

Rutgers Learning Centers

Rutgers Learning Centers work with students through a variety of free academic support programs to promote student achievement. Meet your academic challenges head on. Contact a Learning Center to get started.

UCC STUDENT HIGHLIGHT

W. Scott McLane has undergone many challenges throughout his life, but ultimately he transformed himself into a person who values life and all it has to offer. He returned to Rutgers part time in Fall 2008 through the SAS Academic Amnesty program determined to be successful. Scott describes his first attempt at Rutgers in the late 80's and early 90's as an epic failure. He recalls that after an alcohol related incident at the Busch Campus dorm he was referred to the Rutgers Alcohol and Other Drug assistance Program \(ADAP\), but at that time he wasn't ready to get help.

Scott's drinking got progressively worse, and he awoke fifteen years later at the age of 39 homeless and living out of a car with failing health. He never married, had no children, no career or no bank account. He admits he was totally destitute and in the depths of despair. He realized his loneliness most deeply because he was estranged from his family and friends. Scott says that his dad had graduated from St. Peters in Jersey City, and had secured a job with what is now one of the largest accounting firms in the world; however, he died alone in a dark and dingy room over a bar. Scott recounts how he later found out that his senior year at CBA was financed by Christian Brothers due to his father's loss of employment: "Alcoholism is not an intellectual exercise and even a high IQ could not deter his father from drinking."

Scott's last recollection of his father was "in handcuffs leaving home with police officers. It would be impossible to quantify the damage that alcoholism has done to my family, but thankfully, I seem to have been given another chance and am very grateful."

A few days short of his 46th birthday, Scott became an American Studies major and achieved a GPA of 3.4. He proudly noted that although it took 18 years to return to school, he has been successful in his academic endeavors. He has two classes until graduation and is thinking about graduate school. A few short months prior to his return to Rutgers, he was reunited with his mother before she died and reconciled with his sister. Scott thanked whatever divine force allowed his mother to witness his road to recovery and he adds, "I carry her memory in my heart every day and will be thinking about her when I get that diploma." He is celebrating over five years of sobriety and is giving back to the community by speaking at prisons, drug rehabilitation centers, and to convicted drunk drivers. He also spoke to graduate students at the Rutgers Center for Alcohol Studies and most recently to the senior class at their annual retreat as well as the SADD group, a student-run organization formerly known as Students Against Drunk Driving and now called Students Against Destructive Decision Making, at his old high school-Christian Brothers Academy in Monmouth county, while continuing his studies to maintain a strong GPA.

Scott noted , "It's been a slow, painful, and humbling journey. It's such a gift to be able to give back."
